"Ron Lyons is a character, and this is meant in the most endearing way. He is interested in anything having to do with antique golf."

This passion has led him to assemble the greatest collection of antique golf cars in the world. In fact it is enough to start a golf car museum at his Legends Golf and Country Club. The amazing thing about his collection is that he has meticulously restored each addition which date back to 1949. This includes mechanical restoration so they all run today.

Without Ron's passion for golf cars a very important part of golf history would have been lost over time. Golf cars created the opportunity for millions of golfers to take up the game that would not have done so otherwise.

We all owe Ron a debt of gratitude for preserving this important piece of golf history."

"I personally consider Ron Lyons to be the foremost authority in the world when it comes to old golf cars made before 1970. He has done an enormous amount of research collecting not only rare documents including original literature and ads but also collecting and restoring actual examples of these almost forgotten vehicles. He is the first person I go to when I come across a golf car I have never seen and also the last person. If he doesn't have the answer it has not been discovered yet!"
